

Spectrum TV Control Pro

Turn every TV into a synchronized, revenue-driving customer experience.

Unified screen management made easy

For bars and restaurants — from single-location venues to multi-location chains — that rely on multiple TVs to deliver sports and other entertainment, screen management directly affects the customer experience. When audio echoes between TVs or key moments appear seconds apart across screens, customer satisfaction drops quickly. Meanwhile, employees lose valuable time adjusting channels, troubleshooting inputs or managing multiple systems from different vendors.

Businesses need a platform that unifies control, reduces complexity and turns every screen into an asset.

Designed for seamless entertainment

Unlike traditional TV setups that rely on multiple receivers, remotes and vendors, Spectrum TV Control Pro delivers synchronized entertainment through a single managed platform. The solution is purpose-built to solve common challenges, including screens falling out of sync, staff juggling multiple remotes and promotions competing with live programming.

Designed specifically for environments with multiple TVs, the solution delivers centralized TV management, perfectly synchronized viewing, integrated digital signage and access to premium sports programming, like NFL Sunday Ticket and Peacock¹ Sports Pass, through EverPass.² The result is a consistent, high-quality entertainment experience that keeps customers engaged while simplifying day-to-day operations for staff.

Simplified multi-screen management

Spectrum TV Control Pro combines IP-based video delivery, centralized management and professional installation into one integrated platform. Its modern architecture delivers dependable performance while simplifying staff training and long-term system management. A central gateway synchronizes content across every screen with no lag or echo, while staff controls channels, zones and schedules through a single, intuitive web or mobile application.

Owners can instantly adjust programming, coordinate viewing and deliver consistent experiences, transforming entertainment into a measurable revenue driver. Integrated digital signage capabilities allow you to promote specials, highlight events or reinforce branding without disrupting live entertainment.

In addition, professional installation and ongoing support help ensure reliable performance from day one, especially during high-stakes sporting events when every moment matters. Staff are free to spend less time managing screens and more time delighting customers.
